First Panel: 1:00pm to 1:50pm – 1.0 CLE Credit
Title: Facial Recognition and Our Fundamental Rights

Moderator:
Larry Spollen
Senior Trial Attorney & Veterans Court Specialist, NYCDS

Larry Spollen has been practicing with New York County Defender Services since graduating Fordham Law School in 2007, he is the first law graduate hire to rise to the Senior Trial Attorney level at the office. He currently serves as the Veterans Court Specialist. In that position, he advocates for Justice Involved Veterans in Manhattan Veterans Treatment Court, seeks alternative resolutions for veterans who do not qualify for treatment court, and ensures that NYCDS continues to develop a strong advocacy position for our veteran. While a student at Fordham, Larry collaborated in the representation of Guantanamo Detainees with the Criminal Defense Clinic. He also initiated a successful application for asylum with the Immigrant Rights Clinic, and worked on several projects in the Post-Katrina Gulf Coast as an executive member of the Student Hurricane Network.

Panelist:
Clare Garvie
Senior Associate, Georgetown Law Center on Privacy & Technology

Clare Garvie is a senior associate with the Center on Privacy & Technology at Georgetown Law. She was a co-author and the lead researcher on The Perpetual Line-Up: Unregulated Police Face Recognition in America, a report that examines the widespread use of face recognition systems by state and local police and the privacy, civil rights, and civil liberties consequences of this new technology. Her current research focuses on the use of face recognition-derived evidence in criminal cases, and she serves as an informational resource to public defenders, advocates, and journalists. She received her J.D. from Georgetown Law and her B.A. from Barnard College in political science, human rights, and psychology. Previously, she worked in human rights and international criminal law with the International Center for Transitional Justice (ICTJ).

(More)
SECOND PANEL: 2:00pm to 2:50pm – 1.0 CLE Credit
Title: ShotSpotter, Cellular Data, and the Future of Digital Forensics

Moderator:

Angela Chuang  Trial Attorney, NYCDS

Angela Chuang is a staff attorney at New York County Defender Services and has been with the office since 2013. She received her J.D. from Harvard Law School, where she represented indigent clients as a student defender in the Criminal Justice Institute and worked with Burmese refugees in the International Human Rights Clinic. Prior to law school, she earned a B.S. in Industrial and Labor Relations from Cornell University.

Panelist:

Jerome Greco  Staff Attorney, Legal Aid Society, Digital Forensics Unit

Jerome D. Greco is a public defender in the Digital Forensics Unit of the Legal Aid Society in New York City. He works with attorneys and investigators in all five boroughs on issues involving electronic surveillance technology, cell phone tracking, GPS, social media, and hard drive analysis, among other fields. He is currently engaged in challenging the NYPD’s use of facial recognition, ShotSpotter, and the execution of overbroad search warrants for electronic devices. Prior to joining the Digital Forensics Unit, Jerome was a trial attorney in the Legal Aid Society's Manhattan and Staten Island criminal defense offices. In addition to his work with technology, he has significant experience in litigating Freedom of Information requests and is an advocate for government transparency.

THIRD PANEL: 3:00pm to 3:50pm – 1.0 CLE Credit
Title: Opening the Black Box: Contesting Law Enforcement’s Use of Predictive Tools

Moderator:

Michael Doyle  Senior Trial Attorney, NYCDS

Michael began his legal career at the Legal Aid Society, Criminal Defense Division, Queens County, in January 1988. In 1990, he went into private practice as a solo practitioner specializing in criminal defense. He came to NYCDS in 1998, where he is now a senior trial attorney. Michael is a member of the bar in New York and Massachusetts, as well as the Southern and Eastern Districts of New York.
Panelist:

Jason Schultz
Director of New York University's Technology, Law & Policy Clinic

Jason M. Schultz is a Professor of Clinical Law, Director of NYU's Technology Law & Policy Clinic, Co-Director of the Engelberg Center on Innovation Law & Policy, and Area Lead in Law & Policy for the AI Now Institute. His clinical projects, research, and writing primarily focus on practical frameworks and policy options to help traditional areas of law such as intellectual property, privacy, consumer protection, and civil rights adapt in light of new technologies and the challenges they pose. His most recent work focuses on the social and legal implications of machine learning, artificial intelligence, and the Internet of Things.